Description:

This fine antique Agra carpet is a creative interpretation of an early 16th century Persian piece. The pattern is very dense in both field and border. The rust ground is closely covered by cloudbands and a wide variety of palmettes. The dark blue sixteen lobe medallion floats on top of the underlying pattern. It is ornamented by short split arabesques and an octagonal sub medallion at the center. The navy blue main border displays octafoils and cartouches connected by a staff. There are cloudbands in the spaces around the larger elements. The inner border is a striking black with vines and flowers. The original is in an elongated gallery format but this carpet is in a more useful western dimension.
